WHAT IS THIS?

These are panels from the Gil Thorp comic strip found in newspapers across the United States. I have been reading Gil Thorp for years and constantly sent fan mail to the writer, Neal Rubin. As a “thank you” for being such a loyal fan, Neal Rubin inserted me as a character in one of his stories.

What kind of person would submit comic strips in a job application? The answer is this: a person who knows that his resume is likely to be lost in a pile with many other qualified candidates. I know that I need to be noticed and remembered.

In short, I am not just a skilled Data Scientist, I am creative. I think outside of the box. I am willing to take calculated risks when deemed appropriate. I am definitely worth contacting. If nothing else, it will be an interesting conversation.
